The Czar's Body to Lie in State Fifteen Days.

WHAT MAY BE EXPECTED FROM ALEXANDER III.

Expressions of Sorrow from Nearly Every Civilized Country—Shameless Conduct of Socialists at New York, St. Louis and Other Places, Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15.—The provinces are quiet and free from excitement. To-day streams of foot passengers passed up and down the street where the assassination took place and large crowds continue in front of the winter palace. Funeral mass was celebrated before a densely packed congregation. It is asserted that if the czar had permitted himself to be driven on in his carriage after the first explosion the catastrophe might have been averted, yet it is regarded as certain that more assassins were posted in different parts of the city. The czar never took the same road for driving out or returning. Only at the moment of starting did he order his coachman as to the route to take.

The second person arrested proved to be a respectable person terrified by the explosion. He was quickly released.

The emperor's last words were "Sasha, Sasha." Diminutive for Alexander.

LONDON, March 15.—The Princess of Wales received a message Monday that the Duchess of Edinburgh fainted twice en route to St. Petersburg, and is completely prostrated. At the Russian embassy Turkish and Chinese ambassadors conversed freely, tendering their sympathies to the Russian ambassador. All ambassadors wore their state official costumes, marked with crape. The Prince of Wales and Duke of Cambridge wore marshals' uniforms marked with Russian decorations. The Princess of Wales was in deep mourning and beneath a heavy black veil looked pale and nervous.

Speculations as to how the Czar's Death will Affect Russia.

BERLIN, March 15.—Russia having assumed a commanding attitude toward the rest of Europe and affecting defiance regarding her foreign policy renders it necessary to fully expose her present position. The immediate effect of the death of the Russian emperor, will it is expected exercise a wholesome influence upon the home affairs of the empire. The new emperor it is believed possesses the requisite elements for soothing down existing differences among the nobility and reconciling that portion of the aristocracy who showed signs of dissatisfaction because of the measures of progress undertaken by the late emperor. The opinion is generally entertained that the new emperor will follow the traditions of his early predecessors in endeavoring to make the Russian empire dependent on her own resources. The development of the latter has been hitherto largely controlled by foreigners, to whom the new regime will prove inimical.

The New Czar.

PARIS, March 15.—The new emperor of Russia is almost entirely ignorant of the affairs of state. He will probably set aside his father's advisers. Privy Councillor Pobedonossea would bring with him bias and narrowness such as would not allay internal or foreign disquiet. As to his domestic policy, neither the czar's personal capacity nor his friends and advisers, nor the circumstances of his accession warrant the expectation of his inauguration of a more conciliatory or liberal course. Indications are that he will adopt repression. The czar is said to be anti-German, but this is a vague expression. Greece has now an unquestionable zealous champion in the empress of Russia. Her first effort will be directed towards a policy more favorable to Greece. This might open up a prospect of disquiet to Europe but for the hope that Turkey, taking note of these warnings, will promptly avert danger by making the necessary concessions.

The New Czar Seeks Counsel.

The czar handed over to General Melikoff the entire direction of affairs and has summoned deputations from the country at large to consult upon the best means to adopt against anarchy and sedition. The garrison was kept ready all night in case a disturbance should occur. A large number of Cossacks patrolled the streets Monday persistently. It is stated that General Melikoff had some days previous to the murder unearthed the plot and had entreated the czar not to expose himself publicly.

The Remains.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15.—The remains of the emperor will be removed at 8 o'clock this evening from a cabinet adjoining the reception hall to the chapel of the palace. All members of the imperial family and dignitaries and officials will be present. The body, in accordance with a wish of the deceased, is clad in the uniform of the Preobrashensko regiment. A requiem was chanted at 7 o'clock last evening. At midnight doctors made an autopsy which proved that all internal organs were in normal condition, thereby refuting recent current reports respecting the health of the emperor. The body has been embalmed.

Ceremonies Concluded.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15.—A salute fired by the cannon on the fortress announced the conclusion of the ceremonies connected with the ascension of Alexander III to the throne of Russia. The space before the palace was covered with people when the emperor and empress passed through the crowd on their way to the cathedral amidst deafening acclamations.

Military Appointment.

Grand Duke Vladimir was yesterday appointed to command the Imperial Guard and the military district of St. Petersburg.

Significant.

VIENNA, March 15.—The fact of President [illegible], who is a Pole, not alluding to the assassination of the czar has raised much comment.

Origin of the Fatal Scheme.

LONDON, March 15.—The Russian embassy here claim to have evidence regarding the czar's assassination that the manufacturing of the bombs, glass and nitro glycerine, and in fact the entire scheme, originated in London.

Died from Poison.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15.—It is stated that the civilian who declined to give his name died from poison he had taken, not from wounds.

The Trappings of Woe.

BERLIN, March 15.—The whole German army goes into mourning for one month.

Princess Dolgourouke.

VIENNA, March 15.—A dispatch says that Princess Dolgourouke, morganatic wife of the late czar, has left St. Petersburg and will not return.

More about the Assassins.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15.—The remains will lie in state in the chapel of the palace fifteen days, and prayers will be said nightly. The minister of the interior states that one of the chief organizers of the attack on the czar arrested March 11th, has confessed complicity and denounced Roussakoff in person. Roussakoff being shown the corpse of the man who evidently threw the second bomb and was himself mortally wounded recognized his accomplice. The house from which Roussakoff obtained the bombs has been discovered. As soon as the police appeared the male occupant shot himself, but a woman living with him was arrested. The police found a number of grenades and proclamations stating that the assassination would be accomplished by two persons. This morning a young man entered the house and was arrested, but not until he had fired a revolver six times, wounding three policemen.

Resolutions of Sympathy for the Russian Government and People.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The following preamble and resolutions offered by Morgan were unanimously adopted by the senate to-day:

Whereas, The senate of the United States has been informed of the death by unlawful and inhuman violence of his majesty Alexander II of Russia;

Resolved, That the senate of the United States unites its voice with that of all civilized people in denouncing assassination as a means of redress for any grievances, either real or imaginary.

Resolved, That remembering and cherishing with satisfaction the relations of friendship that have always existed between the people and governments of Russia and of the United States, to the strengthening and maintaining of which the late emperor has earnestly contributed his great influence, the senate extends to the government and people of Russia its condolence in this sad national bereavement.

Resolved, That the secretary of the senate deliver a copy of these resolutions to the president of the United States with a request that he communicate the same to the Russian government.

The Cabinet Sympathizes with Russia.

In to-day's cabinet meeting there was a general expression of sympathy for the imperial family and the Russian people in their bereavement. The prompt action of the senate in adopting appropriate resolutions was commended. It was decided to telegraph the senate resolutions, and Secretary Blaine cabled them to Minister Foster at St. Petersburg with a request to transmit a copy to the Russian minister of foreign affairs.

Mass for the Czar.

Fathers Bjerring and Lopuchin in the Russian embassy to-day celebrated requiem mass for the czar. Members of the legation were in deep mourning and the mansion was heavily draped. At the close of the service the legation reverently kissed the crucifix. Secretary of State Blaine and his wife and son were present. The diplomatic corps and families were fully represented.

Objection to Adjournment in Respect to the Czar's Memory in the French Chamber.

PARIS, March 15.—In the chamber to-day Talandier (irreconcilable) complained that he had vainly tried to protest against a motion yesterday, that the house adjourn in view of the death of the Czar. Gambetta replied that if Talandier had protested against the almost unanimous vote of the chamber, he would have enforced standing orders against him. Gambetta stated that the house legislature under the empire, adjourned on the occasion of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. The subject was then dropped.

From Paris Journals.

PARIS, March 15.—A letter from Geneva in the Intransigeant says: After the abortive attempt at the Winter Palace the police seized 400,000 francs constituting the nihilist fund and until they had gotten together more money the revolutionary party were [illegible] to keep quiet. Warnings were, however, repeatedly sent the emperor, the last one reaching him on the [illegible] inst., but all were disregarded. Assassination was determined upon and to divert the police the nihilists let it be supposed that the explosives were being manufactured in London while they were being prepared in St. Petersburg. The fatal bombs were loaded by women. The writer adds that there is no nihilist of the name of Roussakoff.

Rochefort prefaces the above by an article in which he offers a wager that before forty years passes Alexander III will have granted Russia a constitution.

Voltaire has a telegram that the entrails of the emperor literally gushed out when the bomb struck him. An anonymous letter announcing the intended assassination was sent to the emperor's wife Sunday morning. She endeavored to persuade him to stay at home. Voltaire counsels the new czar to break at once with Bismarck and the Germans. "Our wishes are neither untimely nor impertinent. The new czar will be French enough for us if he is thoroughly Russian."

A Nihilist Tells why the Czar was Assassinated.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The Herald reports an interview with the nihilist correspondent of the Springfield Republican here, than whom it says there are probably few if any living in this country more familiar with the deep laid schemes of the nihilists to overthrow the Russian government. He traces the assassination of the czar to the latter's refusal of demands personally made upon him by a nihilist delegation to whom he granted a clandestine interview. At this meeting he was addressed in substance as follows: "Give to the Poles what you promised, and your father and uncle before you—a constitution. And not only to the Poles but to the whole nation. An article that is good for exportation ought to be doubly good for home consumption. It was good for Russia in your eyes to spend millions of money and to sacrifice tens of thousands of lives in order to obtain a constitution for Bulgaria and independence to Roumania, and it ought to be good for Russia. It is in your power to be once really the father of the people as you are styled. Grant a constitution and you will establish forever the Romanoff dynasty and be beloved by your people like the Austrian emperor." In the characteristic manner of his family he answered: "Not during my lifetime or after me if I can help it." Upon this they left him and you see the result.

A Socialist's Wild Talk.

NEW YORK, March 15.—A Times reporter interviewed a leader of the socialist party here who said: In America the fate that has overtaken Alexander has point. There are those in the United States who should heed the warning for it bodes disaster to some among us in high places.

To whom do you refer? Answer: I need not particularize, but the lords of American monopoly have cause to tremble. They are oppressing the people of the land. For just such oppression Alexander was killed.

And you decline to name these monopolists who are thus inviting death? Well I am willing to mention Jay Gould and Wm. H. Vanderbilt as representatives of the class to whom I refer.

Do you mean to aver that there is really danger in their being served as was the czar? The mene mene tekel, upharsin is written. It is plain to the eye of all men. American monopolists Gould, Vanderbilt and others had better consider well their future actions. I have nothing further to state.

A Socialist Fined.

[NEW YORK, March 15.—Jos. Hassdelc, arrested on a charge of violation of the corporation ordinance in posting bills on telegraph poles for a communist mass meeting to rejoice over the death of the czar, was arraigned to-day and fined $1.]

Socialist Meeting Called at St. Louis to Indorse the Assassination.

ST. LOUIS, March 15.—A dodger embellished with a death head, cross bones and a coffin was freely circulated on the streets to-day calling a meeting of the Friends of Progress and the Children of the Goddess of Liberty to assemble at the courthouse to-night to endorse the action of the nihilist society in the assassination of Emperor Alexander of Russia. Polish exiles specially are invited to be present. The dodger has made considerable stir among people generally and the police are attempting to find its author. Precautions will be taken by the police to prevent disturbance.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The House of Commons.

LONDON, March 15.—In the commons yesterday when division was called for on Gladstone's motion of urgency for supply, less than fifty [illegible] required the house, including conservatives and liberals. [illegible]

In the committee of supply [illegible] Parnell moved a reduction of £3,100, negatived. On a vote of £ [illegible] for the Irish constabulary Parnell protested, but the vote carried, [illegible]

The Lords.

LONDON, March 15.—In the house of lords to-day the arms bill was read the second time. Earl Spencer pointed to the improvement in the condition of Ireland since the coercion act passed.

An Important Irish Arrest.

LONDON, March 15.—J. Sheridan, one of the traversers, was arrested this A. M. This is considered the most important arrest so far made.

Protest against Bismarck's Charges.

BERLIN, March 15.—The municipality has presented to the reichstag a protest against Bismarck's charges of unfair taxation.

Basis of Discussion Proposed for the Paris Conference.

BERLIN, March 15.—The Morning Journal here professes to give the French proposal to be submitted to the monetary conference as the basis of discussion. It takes the form of a draft of a convention of eleven articles, according to which the consenting parties would constitute themselves a bimetallic union. Each member would permit unlimited coinage of gold and silver in the proportionate value of 1 to 15½. It would be optional for the contracting countries to alter or retain the coinage of dollars, francs, pounds or marks. Any person would have the right of gratuitous coinage in any of the countries, or immediate exchange of coin for bullion at a slight stated reduction, gold and silver coins to be legal tender in the state coining them, each government to settle the quantity and quality of its own issue, the acceptance of silver to begin on the same day in all consenting countries and the convention to remain in force until the year 1900.

The German Court Scandal.

BERLIN, March 15.—Count Herbert Bismarck has certainly eloped with Princess Elizabeth of Carolath Beuthen. Both arrived at Messina several weeks ago. The princess is the wife of Prince Charles of Carolath Beuthen, count of Schoenaich and chief of one of the first Prussian families and hereditary member of the upper house. The faithless wife is a step sister of Prince Hermann of Hatzfeldt Trachenberg, head of the Catholic family bearing that title since 1741, and daughter of the countess of Reichenbach. She has one daughter, Princess Sybella, now 11 years of age. Prince Carolath, who is [illegible], has left parliament and retired to his estates in Silesia. He will commence a divorce suit. Count Herbert Bismarck, whose age is 32, was formerly secretary to his father, who had destined him as his chief assistant and eventual successor. It is said that this domestic calamity is the chief cause of Bismarck's recent irritability and bad humor.

South Africa.

LONDON, March 15.—The government has been officially informed that the armistice with the Boers has been extended four days. General Wood, President Brand of the Orange Free State, Commander Joubert and Paul Kruger meet on the 18th inst. two miles from Prospect Hill. Paul Kruger has written to President Brand complaining of the treatment the Boers have received, but saying that he still holds to the offer of protectorate by the queen over the Transvaal.

Simon Cameron's Last Talk with Jefferson Davis.

[Charleston Letter to the Philadelphia Press.]

"I remember one morning during the exciting debates in the senate prior to the retirement of the southern senators that Jeff Davis, with whom I had been upon the most intimate terms for a long time, invited me to breakfast, to talk over the questions at issue and to ask if I would not use my influence in behalf of a peaceful separation. The talk between us while at breakfast, which lasted some time, was quite animated, but all in good temper, but towards its conclusion it became very warm. Mr. Davis was then, as I suppose he is now, a man of ungovernable will, and of course took positive ground that the states had a right to secede and would do so unless their demands were acceded to. I denied this right, and said that any attempt on their part to leave the union would result in war. Both of us were stubborn upon the diverse positions taken. He got quite excited and as I was leaving said angrily:

'Cameron, if there is an attempt on the part of the north to coerce us, and a war between the states results, I will draw a line through the country at the Potomac river. No,' he added immediately, 'I will draw the line at the Susquehanna, and your house shall be my headquarters.' I answered, much in the same temper: 'You will never be permitted to break up the union, and if you try it war will be the result; you will be soundly thrashed and slavery in this country will be doomed when the first gun is fired.' History has verified the prediction. Davis soon after left the senate, and I have never seen him since."

Pugilists Ought to be Successful Men.

[From the Chicago Times.]

In this pushing world he who cannot or will not fight is thrust to the wall; and he who would succeed can have no better shield and buckler than the reputation of ability to care for himself by the hitting of hard blows.

Slow but Sure.

[From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The Boers are getting the best of John Bull in the Transvaal, but they will be sorry for it one of these days. It takes the bold Briton about three months always to measure his enemy. After that the ceremonies begin.

GENERAL NEWS.

Chicago Certifies to the Health of Her Hogs.

THE N. Y. TIMES SEVERELY CRITICISES GARFIELD.

Part of Kansas City Washed Away—The Floods West of Omaha, Etc., Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

OMAHA, March 15.—Transfer with passengers is being made at the Union Pacific [illegible] west of here where the backwater from the Platte river still floods the track. The distance to travel is about three hours. More serious trouble is expected at various points and particularly between Schuyler and North Bend. The Union Pacific has made arrangements in case of an emergency to run its trains via the B. & M. road between Omaha and Kearney. A Union Pacific emigrant west bound train was sent out over the B. & M. to Kearney to-day and freight trains will probably follow the same route. A bridge was washed out to-day on the Omaha and Republican valley road, near Valley station, cutting off all trains on that road at the bridge until repaired, until the Platte river goes down. Towards Grand Island the Bay and east and west Nishnabotna rivers are all rising rapidly, and will undoubtedly give trouble to the Chicago and Rock Island, the [illegible], Wabash and other roads. The Nebraska division of the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha road is still struggling with the snow.

The Trichinosis Fraud Completely Exploded.

CHICAGO, March 15.—The unfortunate disposition over the bogus statistics promulgated in Europe respecting infected pork and trichinosis increases as the facts become more patent. These are clearly brought out by the reliable official reports of the state departments of agriculture telegraphed last night and by the following statement of John H. Rauch, secretary of the state board of health: Since 1870 eleven deaths have occurred in Illinois by trichinosis and in every instance from eating raw ham or sausage. As a sanitarian I regard the danger to life from this source as practically amounting to nothing, it being so easily prevented by cooking. No doubt more deaths occur from many other articles of diet that are regarded as harmless, no record being made of the same. This record of Dr. Rauch, showing as it does that in 11 years out of three millions of people only 11 people have had fatal attacks, a person per year, must settle pretty conclusively the story that Illinois pork is dangerous. When the fact is added that out of the millions of hogs that have entered Chicago in two years past only 2 have died of trichina, is there [illegible] to positively that any danger need be feared from provisions sent hence to the rest. The story of the Philadelphia consul will be further settled by the investigations of Edward Stere, consul general of Belgium to the United States, who has come to Chicago to look into the matter. It is stated that representatives of Spain, Portugal and Austria are also on the way for the same purpose.

The Times on the Reappointment of Matthews.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The Times says: The general hopefulness and good will with which the new administration was greeted and which it is fair to grow stronger so long as there are [illegible] from serious blemish makes the feeling of disappointment more grievous that it has already committed a sad and thus unusual error in renewing the appointment of Stanley Matthews for the vacant place on the supreme bench. He has not [illegible] repeated one of the injudicious and objectionable acts of his predecessor but has done it without his excuse and in the face of an expressed and just repugnance which that predecessor may not have anticipated.

Another Attempt to Defeat Telegraph Consolidation.

The French cable company yesterday laid an amended complaint in the federal court against [illegible] to enjoin the telegraph companies, with additional statements of allegations showing their justification for an injunction against the transfer of messages.

Rufus Hatch Tries Again.

NEW YORK, March 15.—In the superior court Rufus Hatch began suit to-day against the consolidated telegraph companies to prevent the contract of January 19th. Judge Speir gave a temporary injunction.

A False Rumor.

MILWAUKEE, March 15.—The report received that there was a scheme of amalgamation of the interests of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern and Northern [illegible] is [illegible] entirely false.

KANSAS CITY, March 15.—The Kansas river is rising rapidly and has cut away several acres of valuable property on the Kansas City side, [illegible] stock yards. [illegible] of the glue factories has fallen into the stream. [illegible]

NEW YORK, March 15.—[illegible] fatally shot [illegible] with his own hand [illegible]

UTICA, March 15.—Jas. Scherer, aged sixty-three, a drunken teamster, probably fatally shot his wife to-day and then killed himself.

Freight Rate War Ended.

It is stated that cutting on freight rates by trunk lines is stopped for the present.

The Indiana Amendments Adopted.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 15.—The constitutional amendments were certainly adopted yesterday.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Passengers by the new route—viz Atchison, Topeka, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific roads—left here to-day for San Francisco.

PIOUS SMILES.

His text was: "What doest thou here, Elijah?" He divided it into two heads: "First," may be thought, said he, "let us consider what Elijah did hear; and secondly what he didn't hear."

A grave brother addressing Robert Robinson, a distinguished clergyman of the last century, said: "Friend R., I never heard you preach on the trinity." "Oh, I intend to do so as soon as ever I understand it."

The Rev. Dr. Miller of Cincinnati, in a recent sermon said that a large part of the human family would yawn and fall asleep over the bible, while they would pore for hours over a daily newspaper and manifest the liveliest interest and satisfaction.

The Congregationalist thinks "the Sunday papers should neither be bought nor printed." Wise and Christian men should in all ways stand clear from and discourage it. [illegible] might as well ask the earth to stand still. [illegible] even Joshua could do that.—Christian Leader.

Says the Golden Rule: "The great problem before the churches is how to fill their pews as the theaters are filled; how to gather the crowds that circuses draw; how to reinforce the beggarly handful that makes up the prayer meeting audiences—in a word, how to popularize religion in the best sense of that abused term."

The Rev. Dr. Talmage gave the Brooklyn air a good word for its healthfulness in a recent sermon and then modestly remarked: "If, when I get to heaven I find that less than 100,000 souls have been saved through my instrumentality, I'll ask to be excused and to be allowed to come back and atone for the dead failure."

Brooklyn clergymen are considering the propriety of a revival movement. At a recent meeting one of the pillars of the church there made the following statement: "In the early days of the church 3,000 converts were made by one sermon, and now it takes about 3,000 sermons to make one convert." Possibly the movement is intended to stir up the old converts.

Moi Sing Gel, one of the Christian Chinamen who joined in the banquet given by them to their American friends in Chicago, in his speech, among other things to the point said this: "Bad white people meet Chinaman on the street and push him one side, throw stones at him, say Chinaman eat rats, eat dogs. When such peoples dies do you suppose they will go to heaven? I guess not."

The street boys of Cleveland recently attended a lecture on the Prodigal Son illustrated with pictures. When the scene came to that part of the story where the father exclaims: "This my son was dead, and is alive again," the lecturer asked: "Was his son really dead?" One of the future presidents from Ohio answered: "Not a—bit of it; he was only dead broke." It takes an Ohio man who hasn't got tin in [illegible] to explain the true inwardness of the parable of the prodigal son.

Grant on Schurz and Sherman.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Gen. Grant recently said: "Schurz, although my avowed opponent, has never busied himself since he has been in the cabinet turning out my friends because they were Grant men. Secretary Sherman, however, has been turning out all the poor tidewaiters and other small chaps earning a living for themselves if they were declared to be Grant men. I think Schurz has been the more chivalrous and broad minded of the two."

Our Material Prosperity.

LONDON, March 3.—The Times says if politics are likely to be uninteresting in the United States during Gen. Garfield's presidency, the administration will almost certainly be marked on the other hand by an enormous development of the material prosperity, and should no check be interposed, of the population and trade of the country.

THE SENATE YESTERDAY.

A Brief Session and no Important Business Transacted.

The Committees.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The republicans [illegible] completed [illegible] committees [illegible] Davis is transferred [illegible] chairman of the committee on [illegible]

Democratic Caucus.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Some democratic senators refused to go into caucus this afternoon, asserting that they were dissatisfied with the caucus agreement to a line of action adopted regarding it. The democrats who stand out are those who insisted upon a prompt organization while the democrats have a majority. The caucus this afternoon was unable to discuss the situation of the parties, in which considerable criticism was indulged in because of alleged waste of time in effecting organization. Some who are mad at the dilatory action of the democrats say that they might as well give up at once, but evidently the democratic plan of action will be to let matters remain as now and not force one thing until the senate is filled and then submit to the majority.

Senator Mahone.

It is said on good authority that Mahone's alliance with the republicans in Virginia will be [illegible] and his friends [illegible] administration in the belief that many people of the south are willing to support the administration if encouraged, and that though Mahone [illegible] new senators from Minnesota and Maine are unexpectedly delayed the senate will be organized this week.

Preparing for the Jeannette Search.

The navy department to-day paid $100,000 for the steam whaler Mary and Helen to be used in search of the Jeannette. The naval board arranging details of the expedition to-day heard an expression of views concerning dog sledging and other matters bearing on arctic explorations.

NEW MAGAZINES.

In Scribner's for March the second part of Mrs. Burnett's new novel, "A Fair Barbarian," [illegible] and interesting [illegible] Newsman [illegible] Charles Barnard, which has the advantage of presenting the first drawings of [illegible] In "Musical [illegible] Mr. Theodore Thomas writes practically of vocal and instrumental culture, church and theater music [illegible] and American [illegible] portraits of Charles and Mary Lamb [illegible] Dr. B. One of the most striking things in the March number is Mrs. Oliphant's [illegible] paper [illegible] account of [illegible] Mrs. Burnett's [illegible] Sunday school [illegible] a new series [illegible] amusement called [illegible] an incident of Adelina Patti's [illegible] United States [illegible] Strakosch and the [illegible] serials—the fourth installment of Rossiter Johnson's story of [illegible] in which is described [illegible] disastrous [illegible] balloon ascension; Dr. Oswald's stirring "Adventures in Nature's Wonderland;" Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement's second paper of "Stories of Art and Artists," with its pictures; and the anonymous "Mystery in a Mansion," a story of an S. S. There are more than fifty illustrations, a page of music, and an anglo-Chinese story for the boys and girls to interpret.

The numbers of the Living Age for [illegible] have the following articles: [illegible] "A Glimpse at Newfoundland," [illegible]

In the Popular Science Monthly for March the first article is by Dr. Oswald and is a continuation of his treatment of the subject of "Physical Education." [illegible] the management of [illegible] the nursery and the [illegible] the first eight or ten years of [illegible] children. The "Problem of Municipal Nuisances" is discussed by Dr. E. S. Tracy with the purpose of showing that Paris and London are troubled with dirty streets and bad odors as well as New York, [illegible] wholly due to the delinquency of city officials. "Cerebral Localization, or, The New Phrenology," by Henri de Varigny, is an account of the course of discovery in regard to the functions of the different parts of the brain. Mr. R. S. Calvin describes the natural history of "A Piece of Coal," illustrating his story with pictures of the coal plants as they have been revealed to us by microscopical, botanical and geological science. The fifth of Mr. Spencer's articles on "The Development of Political Institutions" follows next, and treats of "Political Forms and Forces." Under the title of "Lingering Barbarism," Carl Vogt considers the present persecution of the Jews in Germany. "The Legal Position of Married Women," by Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, is an instructive summary of the progressive improvement of the position of married women, closing with a statement of their present legal status in the United States. An article entitled "Rock Weathering, as Illustrated in Church Yards," by Prof. Geikie, F. R. S., contains much useful information on the relative durability of the different stones employed for monuments and for building purposes.

Carlyle not a Hater of America.

[G. W. Smalley in N. Y. Tribune.]

Without any question or hint of mine he began to talk of America. "They think," he cried sharply—"some of you think I am no friend of America. But I love America—not everybody's America, but the true America, the country which has given birth to Emerson and to Emerson's friends, the country of honest toilers and brave thinkers. Never shall I forget," he went on with kindling eye and a deeper tone, "that the first money that ever came to me for a printed book came from America. When your people reprinted Sartor Resartus out of Fraser they sent me a good sum for it. They need not have sent it. I have no claim on it or on them, but they sent it and—and I did and do thank them for that. By and by they republished my French Revolution. Do you know, I had not had a penny for that book from the English public till a good while after American friends remitted to me a pretty sum for it? Twice over, twice, my first money came to me from your country. And do they think I forget it and am not grateful for it, and don't love the country which showed this love for me?" Then, breaking off suddenly with one of his explosions of wild laugh, or half pathetic half sneering, he exclaimed: "Yes, I angered you with my Ilias in nuce. But who shall say I was not right, or right then? But you were the stronger at last; you conquered, and you know people will have it I have said might is right. Suppose I did say it? I knew what I meant by it—not what you think I meant—there is a real true meaning under it—a man is an atheist who believes that in the long run what God allows to triumph is not the right."

Homicide in a Saloon.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—James Adams, superintendent of the silver [illegible], was shot and fatally wounded this evening by Adolph Schander, a clerk in the business office of the Evening Bulletin. The affair took place in a saloon on the southeast corner of Montgomery and Merchant streets. Schander states that Adams was an old business partner of his at Tucson; that a quarrel arose between them about business matters and that Adams, after applying opprobrious epithets, struck him and snatched a pistol, when he (Schander) opened fire [illegible] Adams having made any hostile demonstration. One bullet entered Adams' abdomen, and the other pierced his wrist.

SUICIDE OF GENERAL UPTON.

At his Headquarters at Presidio—Several Causes Suggested.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—Brevet Major General Emory Upton, U. S. A., was found dead in his bed at Presidio this morning, having shot himself through the head sometime during the night. Gen. Upton retired at his usual hour last night, having spent the evening in social converse. The first intimation of the tragedy was obtained this morning between [illegible] o'clock when his orderly went to call the general. Receiving no answer to the knocks the orderly opened the door and found the officer dead in bed. The alarm was instantly given and several officers of the regiment having hastened to the room it was discovered that the general had committed suicide. The revolver was still grasped in his hand and a bullet hole through his mouth and head told the history of his death plainly. The body was [illegible] had evidently been [illegible] several hours, probably since midnight. No paper or anything that might serve to explain [illegible] has as yet been discovered, but neither the body nor the effects in the room have been touched, awaiting the arrival of the coroner. The general impression [illegible] seems to be that grief at the loss of his wife prompted the suicide.

Doubtless the cause of so many people's religious back sliding is owing to the fact that they were moved toward a religious life by emotion rather than a conviction, and what little of such life they had was lacking in principle.—The Golden Rule.

It is not true, and no one claims that the great ends of piety—reconciliation with God, holiness, bible knowledge, influence with men, readiness for heaven—are any more surely and completely attained in one evangelical church than another.—The Christian Union.

Many a church-goer returns to his Sunday dinner self complacent in the idea that he has done a Christian act, when he has accomplished nothing but a gross and impious insult to the Most High. That He, the supreme, almighty, is there, ready to receive the adoration of the worshipper, goes for nothing. He is of no account. The momentous question is whether Rev. Christians everywhere will pray that the administration now coming in may be one of signal purity and prosperity; that its policy, domestic, Indian and foreign, may be righteousness and peace; that God may be in the midst of it, guiding, restraining and governing; that no taint of dishonor may touch its robes, and that every act of secret or public service may challenge the scrutiny of man to purity, justice and truth.—New York Observer.

Catarrhal

[illegible]

Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts:

1. That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local and finally constitutional.

2. That, being constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.

3. That impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the Digestive, Respiratory and Genito-urinary organs.

4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Bronchitis, Leucorrhœa, and Consumption.

5. That Smoke, Douches, Inhalations and Insoluble Snuffs cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.

6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories, Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Home testimony:

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Our teachers' institutes, one of which has just closed a session at Eugene City, are continually giving the public the benefit of suggestions in the cause of education, always of course from the standpoint of the teachers themselves. Teachers expect to live by their vocation. This is just proper, but at the same time their employment is a public one and is supported by taxation. The natural tendency of the educational movements of the times is to build up a professional class who are interested in making the system as extensive, complicated and costly as possible, for the more so it is the more it increases the number and favors the class who expect to live by it and upon it. Therefore when a corps of teachers assemble together under the name of an "institute" and pass resolutions to the effect that the means of public education ought to be further increased, that its methods ought to be further enlarged and extended, that normal schools ought to be established to educate teachers at the public expense, that there ought to be more high schools and larger annual taxation of all property for the support of schools—these and the numerous other suggestions or rather demands (for certain resolutions on this subject now before us take the form of demands rather than of suggestions) do not seem to proceed altogether from disinterestedness, as they certainly do not from consideration of all sides of the questions involved. It is common for specialists in any line to forget that there is anything else of much importance in the world save their own particular calling or pursuit. It would hardly be fair to expect or require those who devote themselves to the specialty of school teaching to be exempt from this rule. But important as schools are, nevertheless there are many other things to be remembered and considered. Man can scarcely live by school books and school drill alone. In this humdrum world there must be somebody to work, to do business, and above all to pay taxes. The public schools can in the nature of things be permitted to absorb only a portion of the attention and energies of mankind and only a portion of the public revenues. Yet no one would guess from the proceedings of a teachers' institute that teachers have a habit of looking at things in this way. Perhaps it would be unreasonable to criticise this when it is apparent that the theory has extended far beyond teachers' institutes, and has become widely prevalent among parents, that the public school system ought to be enlarged to an extent that will take up all the lives of children and youth, as if it were expected that the rising generation would have no battle to make with the world, and therefore no need to take any of the hard lessons of practical life which all must take if they would be fitted to accomplish anything whatever.

It has been well said that the proposition that "we cannot do too much for the cause of education" is true or false according to the interpretation put upon it. Parents, guardians, teachers and pupils cannot be too diligent in such a cause, but the state or the public can attempt too much.

In the state of Ohio there is just now renewed and general discussion of the whole subject growing out of the effort of the educational machinists to enact a law to enforce the graded systems of towns and cities upon the rural schools. This has been met with protest of the most earnest kind from all parts of the state, and the result, as the Columbus State Journal tells us, is a declaration on the part of more than half of the newspaper press of Ohio that the city graded schools are not efficient, that they have not met the expectations of their friends, and that the cost is out of all proportion to the results. These are criticisms which we believe will justly lie against all the graded schools of all our cities. Some journals even go so far as to demand the abolition of the graded schools and a return to the single district system, even in cities and towns. But this is obviously impracticable, as the conditions are vastly different in city and country. Nevertheless it is the opinion of not a few who have thought on the subject and considered comparative results that four or five months attendance in an ungraded country school is productive on the average of better results than an entire year's attendance in a city graded school. This may show that it is better for children to go to school one-third of the year than the whole year. An important corollary is that too much may be done for public education, and that it would be undesirable even if it were possible to keep schools going in the rural districts throughout the whole year.

But we had intended to call attention further to the manner in which the subject is being handled in Ohio. "The public school system," says the Sandusky Register, "is to be likened unto a magnificent building with a magnificent dome and all the modern architectural ornamentation, the whole built on a very poor foundation. Boys and girls of fifteen, now in the high schools cramming with the higher and uncommon school studies, cannot write or talk grammatically, cannot spell words in common use and cannot work examples in mental arithmetic. Reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar and geography, the common branches in the public schools, are neglected that the pupils may hasten on to swell the throng that goes to make up the mansard roof of the building." Here is criticism that will apply to all graded schools. It is not probable that the Ohio press expects to secure remedies for the defects at once by pointing them out, as certainly we do not, but the truth is not told about the public schools too often, nor do most people who talk about them have a habit of coming down from the language of panegyric to that of sober judgment.

We are told that the graded school system in cities and towns of Ohio went into operation between 1850 and 1860, generally about the latter year, and in some places even later. Now facts are stubborn things. All human institutions must be judged by results. The single district system prevailed throughout the state from 1840 to 1850 and with a few exceptions from 1850 to 1860. The number of "illiterate" persons of usual school age—that is persons who cannot read and write—diminished in proportion to population about fourteen per cent between 1840 and 1850, and between 1850 and 1860 the "illiterate" declined in proportion to population about twenty per cent, while between the years 1860 and 1870 that class increased in proportion to the increase of population more than forty per cent. This increase of illiteracy is not found in the country districts, but in cities and towns. It is not wholly, or to any great extent, chargeable to foreign immigration, for foreign immigration was no greater, but even less, between 1860 and 1870 than during the two preceding decades. There must be a cause for this condition of things. What cause can there be other than that the present machine system, with all its costliness and elaboration, is less efficient than the simpler methods formerly employed? The returns of the census of 1880 on this subject are not yet ready for publication; but nothing is risked in the conjecture that this will show no better results for the cities than that of 1870.

Another Ohio journal says: "About four-sevenths of the children of the state receive their education in rural schools, and though the school sessions are shorter in the country than in the cities, yet it is undeniable that the average country boy is the equal in scholastic attainments to his average city brother."

Beyond question there are rural districts which ought to have better school facilities. The people ought to tax themselves to build comfortable houses and support schools at least five but not more than six months every year. Unless the population is so sparse as to make this impossible they are neglecting a great duty if they fail to do it. These are the schools which must educate the majority of the children of the state. They are not likely to overdo it, because the people will not tax themselves to support schools beyond the period of usefulness, and besides, they want the help of the larger children at home. When teachers' institutes come forward with demands for a general tax large enough to keep schools going in all localities, city and country, for the greater part of every year, they propose a policy which if attempted would not only lessen the efficiency of the scheme of public education but would be harmful to the general interests of society. There is a middle course, a golden mean, here as in everything else. And though teachers' institutes are making sundry demands on legislatures for laws to make the system of public education a more and more elaborate piece of machinery, perhaps it would be as well to wait until the parties in direct interest, the parents and school patrons, ask for the changes proposed.

Speaker Randall in his remarks on adjourning the house of representatives on the 4th March thought the opportunity a good one for pointing with pride. His party hadn't been doing much of that thing of late years, while the republicans had been talking as if they had a monopoly of it. And so Mr Randall said: "In 1874 the democratic party, after a long interval, obtained control of this house. With the close of this session it is again in the minority. At the outset it had to face the financial crisis almost unparalleled in our history. Labor unemployed, trade was depressed, commercial distress and widespread gloom were everywhere. It stopped extravagance, established economy in the administration, restored confidence, and now with gladness it beholds the republic launched on a career of unexampled prosperity. It found gold at a premium, and the notes of the government at a discount; it leaves the credit of the United States better than ever before, and unequaled in the money markets of the world. It has witnessed the removal of sectional distrust and the restoration of perfect unity within our borders. It has given birth to an era of fraternal concord. Men of all classes and of every section seem now to strive who shall best serve the common weal to an exalted position." This is very pretty. But the indications are that the people of the United States found another side to the picture, else they would hardly have taken away from so meritorious a party the house of representatives and beaten its candidate for the presidency.

The renomination of Stanley Matthews for the supreme bench by President Garfield is severely criticised. His confirmation is exceedingly improbable, as the senate refused even to consider the nomination when it was made by President Hayes. The chief objection to Mr Matthews grows out of the fact that while in the senate he was a devoted advocate of the great Pacific railway monopoly and an untiring opponent of the Thurman bill. For this reason, chiefly, Ohio refused to return him to the senate. Mitchell of Oregon took a like course in relation to the great monopoly, and his term of public service likewise came to an end. And all the others who hearkened to the voice of the monopoly have met a similar fate. The experience which Matthews now meets shows that the rank offense of these instruments of corporate power is not likely to be forgotten.

The anecdote of the inquisitive man who asked another how he had lost his leg, after having promised to ask no further questions, and was told that it was "bit off," has been variously told and often wrongly attributed. The incident is properly told in Scribner for March in a paper on Copley, the American artist of the last century. The incident occurred between Brook Watson, afterward lord mayor of London, and his servant, who in pulling off his boot was warned in vain that if he was not careful he would bring the leg off too—which, much to his astonishment, he did. As a matter of fact Watson's leg had been bitten off by a shark in the harbor of Havana, an event commemorated in a famous picture by Copley, which is engraved with the above-mentioned paper.

The democrats of the senate have not yet recovered from the consternation produced among them by the conduct of Senator Mahone. But they have pretty certainly succeeded by their violence in driving him into permanent affiliation with the republicans. It has been many a day since there was such a breeze in the senate as this matter has produced. Republican senators made a neat turn by comparing the position of Davis of Illinois with that of Mahone and contrasting the treatment which the two have received at the hands of their democratic brethren of the senate.

The town of Lafayette app vs John B Clark resp appeal from Yamhill county The judgment of the court below reversed Opinion by Waldo J

HEAD NOTES

The charter of the town of Lafayette gives the recorder jurisdiction over complaints for violation of town ordinances and makes him ex officio justice of the peace

C was fined by the recorder for the violation of an ordinance of the town and appealed to the circuit court where the judgment of the recorder was affirmed On an appeal from said judgment Held

That the jurisdiction of the recorder over complaints for the violation of town ordinances belonged to him in his office as recorder not as a justice of the peace

That under subdivision 1 of section 24 of article 4 of the constitution of Oregon prohibiting the passage of special or local laws regulating the jurisdiction and duties of justice of the peace it was beyond the power of the legislature had they so intended which does not appear to annex such municipal duties to the office of justice of the peace

That an appeal as a mode by which a cause may be tried on the facts is a privilege existing by statute and not by common law and that an appeal not having been expressly provided by statute review was the proper remedy and that the cause not having been brought before the circuit court by review its judgment was void

ENTIRE CHANGE!

Having just completed marking our goods at a

GREAT REDUCTION,

We are now prepared to offer our entire stock, which is complete in all its departments, at

SAN FRANCISCO'S LOWEST PRICES.

Why we have made this grand change is

1st. We are disposing of our retail business in San Francisco to make Portland our headquarters.

2d. Nearly all the desirable goods have been shipped up here to be sold

3d. We have better facilities this year than ever before.

4th. We mean to lead the trade in our line, at the LOWEST prices for the BEST goods will bring it.

REMEMBER,

It is a pleasure, and not trouble, to show goods, when our prices invite opposition, but defy competition.

IN OUR

GLASSWARE DEPARTMENT

We have really done wonders, having reduced the entire line 50 per cent. This is no humbug, but come and be convinced. We are to-day giving more Glassware for one dollar than any other house in town for two dollars.

Having an extraordinary large stock in the above line, we feel justified in saying that we can satisfy the poor and rich, having cheap, medium and the very best Glassware made.

FOR OUR

CROCKERY DEPARTMENT

We can only repeat the above facts,

FRENCH CHINA.

We have just received, direct from France, 25 casks of that celebrated I. Haviland & Co. ELITE CHINA, the very best goods ever imported to this country, which we offer at a great reduction from former quotations.

We have entered into a large contract with the leading

BABY CARRIAGE FACTORY

East, which enables us to give a better carriage for the money than any other house on the coast, being of our own and direct importation.

OUR CUTLERY

Has been greatly reduced. We carry none but the BEST,

J RUSSELL & CO'S GREEN RIVER CUTLERY.

LAMPS AND CHANDELIERS

We have marked down full one-third.

ALL OUR SILVERWARE AT A GREAT REDUCTION.

Desirous of LEADING the TRADE in our various branches, we have firmly concluded on Large Sales and Small Profits. A call will convince all that only FACTS are stated, and a cordial invitation is now extended to the public of Portland and vicinity to inspect our goods after the great change in prices.

Fully half the horses in and about Goldendale have the epizootic.

Fourteen Indians paid taxes at the sheriff's office in Goldendale last week.

An addition of 40 new volumes was made to the library at Spokan Falls last week.

Albert C. Stout of Klickitat county, was committed to the asylum at Steilacoom last week.

B. Dodge, of Klickitat, reports the loss of 21 brood mares and 1250 sheep by the late severe winter.

The Puget Sound Iron Company has levied ten cents per share on the capital stock of the corporation.

Since October 135 inches of snow has fallen in Goldendale; during the same time 35 inches of rain have fallen.

Forty-one and one-half acres of land on Lake Washington, belonging to the estate of J. D. Sullivan, deceased were sold recently for $207 25.

Mondovia is the name of a new postoffice recently established on the White Bluff road leading from Deep creek falls to Cottonwood springs.

John Splawn, who was shot at Yakima City last fall, and has ever since suffered severely from the wound received, is now in a fair way of speedy recovery.

There has been about 1500 cords of wood cut at Fort Colville this winter for the garrison, the work giving employment to a number of white men and Indians.

On Saturday the property belonging to the estate of A. W. Malson, deceased, in Seattle, was sold by D. T. Denny. J. W. George and James McNaught were the purchasers, the total purchase price being $2055.

Spokan Times: Over five hundred dollars have already been spent in prospecting and testing clay and [illegible] silver mines near Spokan Falls. Over two hundred dollars of said sum have been spent in this city for board, provisions and implements. This is but a foretaste of the result which may be expected if the mines prove to be as rich and inexhaustible as the discoverer hopes they may be.

Southern Oregon.

Over $24,000 in taxes have been collected in Jackson county, leaving less than $5000 unpaid.

M. H. Drake will drive 600 head of cattle from Jackson county to the bunch grass country of Klamath early in April.

The Ashland woolen mills last week dispatched three prairie schooners for Roseburg, laden with goods for Portland, Salem and San Francisco. The factory is running steadily, but is still behind orders received, so great is the demand for its manufactures. A contract for 2500 yards of striped cloth for the penitentiary has just been completed.

Eastern Oregon.

Carpenters are busy in Pendleton.

Five marriage licenses were issued in Umatilla county during February.

A disgraceful fight occurred between a father and son at Spanish Hollow, Wasco county, in which the father was several times knocked down, and the son was finally compelled to mount his horse and flee before the old man's gun.

A correspondent from Sagebrush flat, Umatilla county says: Plowing is now in order, and the way the virgin soil is being turned over in this section of the country is truly astonishing. If this thing continues long, there will not be enough bunch grass left for seed.

James M. Jackson, of Camp Watson, Grant county, was instantly killed on the 5th inst. by the overturning of his wagon as he was going down a grade. His neck was broken and his skull fractured. Mr. Jackson was returning from Bridge creek with a load of grain when the accident occurred. The funeral took place on the 7th inst. at Camp Watson.

Isthmus freights are very quiet and there is very little doing for California, except such goods as cannot stand railroad contract and are taken by this route at a low rate. The steamer of the 12th had a lot of chairs, white lead shook and match bars; also for China 1098 bales domestics.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.
